CAMPION PLATT

The attainment of livable luxury remains a guiding principle for Campion Platt, the New York City architect and decorator who has crafted homes for such celebrated clients as Al Pacino and Meg Ryan and also codeveloped glamorous hotels like the Mercer in Manhattan and the Chateau Marmont in Los Angeles.

Platt's residential commissions, surveyed in the 2010 monograph Made to Order (The Monacelli Press), consistently brim with high-end finishes, exotic materials, and artisanal furnishings. His holistic approach to design has led him to consult on several planned resort communities in recent years and has spawned textile, carpet, and furniture collections as well.
