IDEA HOUSE

SAGAPOACK, NY

In creating the perfect addition to the HC&G Idea House 2008, the family room is a combination of eco-friendly modern pieces mixed with found objects. One of the more clever examples is the "coin chair", made from hundreds of half dollars welded to a metal frame. The fireplace boasts a sea-themed decorative venetian plaster surrounded by rusty scrap sheet metal fabricated to create panels. The sofa, custom designed by Platt, is upholstered in a neutral organic bamboo textile that begs to be touched. Instead of a traditional seating arrangement around the fireplace, Platt decided to re-imagine the function of the family room. Platt created a comfortable family environment that can easily be adapted into everyday life. Platt had a smart resolution to incorporating the structural elements of the space into his design. Platt achieved this by covering the columns in a mixture of sand and mica to reference the beach.
